The game awards 200 points for each match you play. So you can create a fighter (CAF) with a total stats rating of 1 and just a pound on that CAF in trade show mode until you've earned as many points as you want. No career losses Don't want to blemish your winning record in career mode? Want a rematch? If you find yourself about to lose, get out of your profile and then log back in. Training retries in career mode Getting four stars in a learning mini-game can be frustrating. If you don't get the score you're looking for, you can go out on the career top menu during screen results. Automatic saving is not activated. Then you can reboot your save and try the mini-training game again for better statistics improvements.
